CONVERSATION AT HOME.

Paley once said to Wilberforce,
"Who ever talks to his wife?" The phianthropist at the time was much shocked at flippancy such as this on the part of the author of "The Evidences of Christianity," but after a week spent in the gay world of London, dining with Madame de Stael and sharpening his wits by contact with gifted and intelligent people, he records in his diary the resolution to dehy himself such stimulus in the future lest it might prove hurtful to his contentment. hurtful to his contentment in domestic life. Now we believe that if the great inti-slavery apostle had exerted himself to entertain Mrs. Wilberforce, if husbands generally were to talk a little more on sub-ects of wide interest at home and were to force conversation on other lines than those of physical allments and material wants, there would be no such painful contrast or danger from excursions similar to those which the good man made into the world of vivid thought and interest. Indeed, we half suspect in the case of Mr. Wilberforce, as certainly in other instances, that in his eagerness to please the London society he exhausted his vitality to the point that he was completely talked out, and, in consequence, was dull at home,-Happy Thought.

CHIC CRAVENETTES.

HE provident woman will not consider her summer outfit complete without one of the new, fetching, light-weight cravenettes. It will prove of no end of use, and in it she will ook no less charming than in any of her mart gowns. Ugliness is no longer the hallmark of rain garments. They are now designed and made up with as much care and consideration as if they were for pleasant day wear, instead of as a protector against storms.

A chic cravenette in dull black, a very weight, is made up in a smoothly fitting body, sleeveless and fastened down the front by small cloth-covered buttons. It has a flaring military cape, hanging in godet folds from a huge collar in sailor efect, sharply pointed at the back and on ders. Huge cloth-covered buttons adorn this collarette and hold the straps on the front in place.

There is a wide collar to turn up about the tion and stuffed into a mouse hole will prevent the intrusion of these troublesome visitors.

WHEN packing away ermine furs for the summer, place some pieces of white wax in with them to keep them from growing yellow. Put them in a cotton bag that has been colored with bluing, or use dark blue paper. -:0:-

A pound of copperas, which can be bought for a few cents, dissolved in a gallon of boiling water, is excellent to cleanse a sink or closet. Remember, the copperas is

AUTOGRAPH CUSHIONS.

HIS is a pretty piece of needlework. Two squares of white linen of the desired size of coshlon are required. Ask your friends to write with a lead pencil their names in large, open band upon one piece of the linen. When the space is entirely filled, crazy fashion, outline the autographs in shades of yellow Buttonhole the edges in scallops and work an eyelet in each. Embroider your mono grant in the center of the second square of linen for the other side of the cushion.

Finish the edges of this in the same manner as the first, then lace both together over a cushion whose four sides are covered with a full shirring of yellow silk.
Use yellow silk cord for lacing, and decorate one corner with a large bow of wide yellow satin ribbon. - Good Housekeeping.

The Summer Sallor Girl. Most men object to the manny girl, but the sailor maiden is not of these, for while her outfit is inclined toward masculinity, it does not go far enough in that direction to offend the lord of creation and it is a well-known fact that the aforesaid lord always has a warm spot in his heart for the American sailor girl.

ears if it is a bit chilly. The cape is lined with a thin quality of black taffeta, and the entire rig has an air of finish and style quite uncommon to such garments.

This same design is made up in a vari-ety of colors, the pale shades of gray and tan being especially in favor. A lining of brilliant plaid silk for the cape is effective. Another novel style of rain garment has a yoke, from which falls a full body to the feet. A jaunty hood decorates the back, and is often lined with a bright color.

THE DAY'S DISH.

Strawberry Charlotte. NE ounce of gelatine, balf a pint of cold water, one quart of strawberries, one cupful of powdered sugar, half a pint of cream, six lady finger sponges. Soak the gela-tine in the cold water until soft, then place on the stove to dissolve. Press the berries through a sieve, add the sugar, and when the gelatine is clear and cold stir that in also Whip the cream to a froth and add this to the gelatine and berries. Line the bottom of a tin ring mould with a round of white paper, and the sides with split lady fingers, pour in the mixture, set on ice and serve when hard.

Bargain Counter Food. There is a curious custom prevailing in Boston markets—that of bargains in meats and vegetables, such as féminine customers are wonted to find in the dry goods shops For instance, while prices run very high there as a usual thing, one day beefsteak, which is quoted the next day at 28 and 30 cents, will sell for 10. On the morrow it may be roast beef that has as sweeping a reduction. Again it will be veal and again mutton and lamb. It is the same rule with vegetables. A Boston housekeeper came home lately from market with a peck of spinich. "I didn't care for spinach today particularly." she explained, "but I thought I must take it. It was on the bargain counter at only 10 cents a peck."

follows: Sift a pint of flour, a heap-ing teaspoonful of baking powder and a pinch of salt together two times; add enough sweet milk to make a batter somewhat stiffer than for cake and a tablespoonful of melted (not hot) butter. Beat thoroughly, spread about round pie tin and bake fifteen minutes in a quick oven. If strawberries are used and they are large, mash them lightly with a wooden spoon and sprinkle with sugar an hour before they are needed.

When the shortcake is baked, cut around the edges and pull it apart. Spread both with butter, cutting it in little bits and dropping it on, but not pressing it with a knife. Spread the bottom one with berries, lay the other over it, put a layer of berries on top, and over all sweetened whipped cream. Send to the table immedi ately and cut with a hot knife. Red raspberries, one part currants and two parts red raspberries, cherries, whortleberries sliced peaches or warm stewed tart appl may be substituted for strawberries, and plain sweetened cream or any sauce preterred, instead of whipped cream.

BEAUTY AND HER BEADS.

HE jeweler hints just now at a tre mendous fad in bead work for next autumn and winter, not to mention some very chic affairs to be the adjuncts of smart summer gowns for woman whose summer mecca is not seaside resort.

A tour of the shops yesterday revealed the exquisite possibilities of this work. Chatelaines, cardeases, purses, belts buckes, in new and bewildering array. Formerly, when beads in their visible forms were considered, but two or three shades of colors could be displayed to tempt the feminine purse. But the beadwork of today is veritable mosaic. ## USE FOR TIN CANS.

O NOT throw away tin cans that have closely-fitting covers. They may be painted and used for rice, meal, hominy, and all dry grocer-ies, and make your pantry shelves very attractive. Remove the labels, wash the tins in strong soapsuds and dry them thoroughly. For 25 cents you can procure of any painter a pot of dark gray paint ready for use. Apply with a broad, soft brush, so it is even and smooth. When it becomes dry then with a small camel's hair brush and a bright red paint mark the name of what the box is to contain will save time as well as please the eye.

of any kind is apt to become very dull and tarnished, and the regu-lar operation of rubbing it up is not one that is dear to the averige maid, yet if it is allowed to go too ong uncared for the trouble of reviving it is endless. The best and casiest way of polishing wood is to make a "dolly" of rags, finally tieing it up tightly in a piece of soft fiannel. This should be slightly sprinkled with linseed oil. Over it tie a cloth rag, on which put a few drops of spirits of wine. Rub all the woodwork quickly with this prepared material and polisic quickly as you preceed with a set. polish quickly as you proceed with a soft silk or flannel rag. Both the oil and the spirit should be very sparingly applied, as they would otherwise moisten the too much and produce smears; but if the operation is briskly done, according to these instructions, no polish, however elaborate, will bring about the same brightness.-St. Louis Republic.

POOTWEAK STYLES.

T is noted that a reddish brown shade is receiving a great deal of favor, and it is somewhat difficult to obtain large quantities of this particular color-Cottage boxes are being put into the square and round toes as well as in the pointed toe, and this gives the shoe a more peaked effect. Although tau rubbers for narrow toes are on the market, the demand for them has thus far been light.

A cherry or mahogany colored corduroy was recently noted as a topping for a man's chocolate shoe, and the effect produced was very catchy.

A very handsome exford is now shown with the vamp and tip cut in a V-shape, which adds much to the gracefuloess of the shoe, the upward point of the vamp exending over the top in front.

SOME GOOD, AFTER ALL

MONG the crowned heads who take the greatest interest in charity are the King of Italy and the Downger Empress of Russia. At Christmas and Easter time the former gives way thousands of pounds to charity, and not very long ago insisted that a court ball should be abandoned and the money discributed among the poor. Nothing can ex-ceed the enthusiasm with which the Dowager Czarina takes up charitable work. Not only s she herself most generous, but she also knows how to influence others. The great-est work she has done is undoubtedly the erection by law, but on her initiative, of undling hospitals in numerous parts of the vast Russian Empire.
